Clarksville.

The recess ended four days of testimony during which witnesses went through the state's exhibits, including bank statements and financial records of SCA.

Ted Bruich of North Little Rock, a state field audit supervisor who directed an examination team which uncovered cash shortages in the college business office, testified Thursday.

Bruich, examining individual student IBM cards and matching them to the college's master list, said the records showed 58 students had a total of $3,730 charged to their accounts in July 1969.

Using another IBM card, Bruich testified that $3,715 of the charges were reversed, indicating the individual accounts had been satisfied but no cash had been paid to SCA.

Bruich testified, however, that a state warrant from the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service for $3,730 payment of the 58 student accounts had been received by the college, but was not deposited into any SCA account and was not reflected as cash.

Prosecutor Jeff Mobley of Russellville then asked Bruich: "Does your audit reflect a cash shortage of $3,715?"

"It does," Bruich said.

The $3,715 shortage is the amount of the second count of the four indictments filed against Pruitt.

Earlier in the week, Bruich testified that during the audit in January he found an Arkansas Rehabilitation Service check for $17,291.40 that had been recorded by Pruitt was $11,291.40. Bruich said the error was contained on a daily recap sheet prepared by Pruitt.

"Due to this error in recording receipts, Mr. Pruitt should have checked out $6,000 over in this day's business," Bruich said.

The state rehabilitation voucher and warrants were in accord, Bruich said, in that $17,291.40 was paid to the college. He said, however, that cash in the amount of $6,000 would have to have been withheld.

Henry F. Spitzberg, a Little Rock attorney who was hired by SCA as a special counsel to Mobley, Bruich was asked: "There should have been an overage and there was none?"

"Yes, sir," Bruich replied.

Pruitt's attorney has declined to cross examine most of the state's witnesses until testimony is complete on all four counts against Pruitt. Pruitt left SCA in February and moved to Phoenix.

The state completed the introduction of exhibits and presented witnesses concerning the third count against Pruitt and was in the midst of presenting evidence in the fourth count when the hearing was recessed.

Youth Jailed for Failing to Cut Hair
CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Michael Morrow, 19, of Little Rock was sentenced Thursday to 15 days in the Faulkner County Jail and fined $30 for failing to answer a subpoena and then was given an additional 30 day sentence on the Mississippi County Penal Farm for failing to get a haircut.

Circuit Judge Russell C. Roberts handled the case.

Morrow, a former State College of Arkansas student, had been subpoenaed in the embezzlement trial of Robert L. Pruitt, former SCA head cashier. Roberts ordered the youth picked up after Morrow failed to appear in court earlier in the week.

Morrow told newsmen he was subpoenaed by telephone last week and that he called a secretary in the deputy prosecutor's office Monday to say that he had no transportation from Little Rock to Conway. He said he appealed the subpoena on that basis and waited four hours for a return call that never came.

Morrow said his mother called him at work Thursday and told him a State Trooper was at their home. The youth said he thought the trooper might be transportation furnished by the court.

When he arrived in Conway, Morrow was taken before Roberts by Sheriff Joe Martin of Faulkner County. Roberts immediately ordered Martin to take Morrow to the barber shop.

working, the rate of inflation is beginning to recede and an unemployment rate under 5 per cent can be achieved even without the stimulation of a wartime economy.

—He did not think it proper to ask management and labor to hold down prices and wages when government was the "major culprit." But since he has taken such anti-inflationary measures as cutting the budget, "it is time for labor and management to quit betting on inflation and to start help fighting inflation."

—"Under no circumstances" will he support third-party candidates against Republican candidates in coming elections. "I personally expect to support all of those Republicans who may be running for the United States Senate in 1972 if they want my support, and some of them are members of what is called the liberal wing of the party." He declined discussion of the 1972 presidential race, saying he would "let them speculate on whether I will be a one-term president."

—Donald Rumsfeld will become presidential counselor, and will be succeeded as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity by Frank Carlucci.

Nixon promised a high-level administration post for Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., who was defeated in a bid for the Senate.

—On the pending bill to restrict imports of some major consumer goods, he wants the imposition of quotas limited to textiles. To restrict imports of shoes or other items by quota, he said, "would lose us more jobs than it would save, while the textile quotas will save jobs."

On international matters, Nixon said that despite periodic difficulties in U.S.-Soviet relations "the significant thing is that we are negotiating and not confronting."

He declared it is in the vital interests of both the United States and the Soviet Union to limit nuclear arms because of their cost and the danger of a nuclear confrontation.

"So it is with Berlin and so it is with the Mideast," he said, indicating he believes the vital interests of the two super-powers will create pressures for agreement in those long-time crisis spots.

Despite a United Nations vote unfavorable to the U.S. on membership for Red China, Nixon said "we have no plans to change our policy" of opposing Red China in a seat for Peking.

Recently Peking received a simple majority vote for membership, but the motion failed because a two-thirds majority was required.

"However," Nixon said, "we are going to continue the initiative that I have begun, an initiative of relaxing trade restrictions, and attempting to open channels of communications with China, having in mind the fact that looking toward the future we must have communication and eventually relations with Communist China."

At the outset of the conference Nixon put an end to speculation he might undertake a prolonged one-sided cease-fire in Vietnam at Christmas time in hope that the Communists, without formal agreement, would follow suit.

He said the United States is prepared to have limited halts in the fighting over the holiday season—presumably meaning Christmas, New Year's, and the Tet Lunar New Year in Vietnam.

In discussing Vietnam, Nixon said he was aware of doubt about the actual existence of

Nixon's News Conference at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, is what President Nixon said at his news conference Thursday night:

SOUTHEAST ASIA

The President said he will order a resumption to the bombing of North Vietnam if a Communist buildup endangers U. S. forces in the South. But under no circumstances will U. S. ground forces be sent into Cambodia. He rejected an extended, unilateral cease-fire in Vietnam.

CABINET AND STAFF

Announced Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, will become a full-time counselor to the President. Frank Carlucci will be named to head OEO. Asked about his firing of Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel, Nixon replied: "Certain things happened ... during which I lost confidence in him and perhaps he lost confidence in me." Said Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., defeated in a Senate bid, will get a high-level position in the administration.

ECONOMY

Said inflation has cooled and the nation is entering a period of economic growth. "I believe our economic policies are working." Said unemployment this year will average out at 4.9 per cent, lower than any peacetime year in the 60s.

POLITICS

Declined to speculate on who would be his Democratic opponent in 1972. Said he expects to support all Republicans running for the Senate in 1972.

FOREIGN POLICY

Predicted U. S.-Soviet relations will continue difficult "but we are talking and not confronting." Said there are no plans to change U. S. policy regarding admission of mainland China to the United Nations, but indicated a relaxation of travel policies between the two countries.

Promised, in connection with a Coast Guard ship's failure to accept a defector from a Soviet craft, "I can assure you that it will never happen again."

LEGISLATION

Declined to say whether he would veto a trade bill imposing quotas on imports other than textiles. Said arguments of conservationists against the proposed supersonic transport plane can be answered.

DOMESTIC UNREST

Said his administration has made some progress in healing national divisions. Disagreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's "pablum" description of the Commission on Campus Unrest report.

Mail Embargo Lifted by Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount today lifted the mail embargo he had ordered Wednesday, now that the railroad strike has ended.

He told postal regions to end the embargo of second, third and fourth class mail which had been imposed in advance of the strike, "unless there are local problems which would interfere with a normal operation."

The affected mail included publications, catalogues and parcel post, including thousands of Christmas packages. They were not to be accepted for delivery beyond 300 miles, so long as the embargo lasted.

First class and air mail were not affected.

Soldier Is Charged With Homicide

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
QUI NHON, Vietnam (AP) —

The U.S. Army charged a Brownsville, Tex., soldier today with negligent homicide in the shooting of a Vietnamese teenager whose death set off two days of anti-American rioting in Qui Nhon.

The Army said the soldier is Pfc. Matias Yzaguirre Jr., 22. He is being held in the stockade at Da Nang while an investigation is made to determine whether he should be tried before a military court.

American officials reported after the shooting Monday that the killing had been accidental, but today two Vietnamese who said they saw it happen claimed it was deliberate.

The 13-year-old victim, Nguyen Van Minh, was shot in the head as he sat on a fence outside his school. His classmates and students from other Qui Nhon high schools staged violent demonstrations Monday and Tuesday demanding that the soldier responsible be turned over to Vietnamese authorities for trial. American officials rejected the demand, but meanwhile helped pay the funeral expenses and paid Minh's family $850 as partial compensation.

The demonstrations subsided after a round-the-clock curfew was clamped on the city and a battalion of militia moved in to reinforce the police.

Nguyen Dau, who said he was standing a few yards from the fence on which Minh was sitting, gave newsmen this account of the shooting:

Two Americans drove by in a supply truck and lost their fire extinguisher on a street some distance past the school. They came back, turned around and drove past the school a third time. That time the truck slowed down, and the soldier next to the driver fired his rifle only a few yards from Minh. The truck sped away as the youth's body slumped on the fence.

Le Minh Duc, who said he was across the street, gave a similar account. But he said the soldier who did the shooting was in the back of the truck and his rifle under the supplies as the truck drove away.

U.S. military spokesmen refused to release details of the incident. But American officials told newsmen Tuesday that several Vietnamese boys climbed on the truck when it stopped at an intersection and began stealing supplies. One of the GIs fired a warning shot but failed to aim high enough and inadvertently hit Minh, who was an innocent bystander, the officials said.

Later they changed their story, reporting:

A boy stole the fire extinguisher from the side of the truck, a common occurrence in Vietnam, and one of the soldiers jumped out to chase the thief. The boy dropped the fire extinguisher, the soldier recovered it and returned to the truck. But as he climbed into the truck, a bullet he had placed in the chamber of his rifle during the chase went off accidentally, hitting Minh in the head.

The gold-lettered greeting inside reads: "With our sincere wishes for a Joyous Christmas and a Happy New Year, the President and Mrs. Nixon."

The presidential Christmas card, designed by Hallmark Cards, Inc., is seven and three-quarter inches by six and one-quarter inches. It is enclosed in a white envelope with "The White House" engraved in green in the top left hand corner.

Thousands to Get Greetings From Nixons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon started mailing out their Christmas cards today to thousands of persons.

The card features a green embossed wreath with the White House in a gold medallion in the center.

the night before Lt. William L. Calley's platoon swept through My Lai, a blond and balding Army chaplain paid a courtesy call on two of the lieutenant's superior officers.

"We generally discussed the operation," said the Episcopal priest, "and one of the two said, 'We are going into the village and if we receive any return fire, we are going to level the village.'"

"I said I didn't think we made war that way," the Rev. Carl Edward Creswell testified at Calley's court-martial Thursday. "One of the officers replied: 'It's a tough war.'"

At the company level, Calley's chief defense lawyer said in his opening statement, the orders passed down for My Lai were "to kill every living thing in the hamlet."

The Rev. Mr. Creswell was the first witness testifying for Calley, who is charged with the murder of 102 civilians March 16, 1968.

The 27-year-old Calley, silent and ramrod straight through four weeks of trial, will tell his own story, attorney George Latimer told the all-officer jury, "thereby giving you a full account of his actions, conduct and behavior."

Conviction of premeditated murder carries a sentence of life imprisonment or death.

The Calley platoon, Latimer said, went into My Lai resentful about the recent deaths of buddies, understrength, undertrained, and with fresh assurance "that at long last they were going to close with the enemy and get even for the loss of their buddies."

The GIs were told, the attorney continued, that all civilians were gone from the village and "if there were any occupants remaining, they would be Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The public broadcasting network must get credit for televising the most daring program of the year: The apparently uncensored film adaptation of Peter Weiss' Broadway play commonly identified as "Marat Sade."

The two-hour film was aired during prime time Thursday night. It was a grisly melodrama which in its complicated, unusual form contained the author's view of the world today and its people.

The full name of the play is "The Persecution of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade." The scene was set in the barred bathhouse of the madhouse outside of Paris in 1808. A group of inmates, in a sort of primitive group therapy, were enacting De Sade's drama about the killing of Marat, a revolutionary leader in the French upheaval 15 years before, by Charlotte Corday. The French public was invited to witness the performance.

The 1967 film was essentially a dialogue between De Sade, with his belief in man's individual expression, no matter what his need or whim, and Marat's conviction about the need for revolution even when it destroyed the revolutionaries.

There were patients in straight jackets, Marat's scab-covered body, an adult nude scene, writhing madmen and women and a brutally violent climax.

For the viewer, the inescapable point was whether the inmates of bedlam or the people outside were the real madmen, the real unfeeling brutes. It was a memorable and disturbing film. It was also one that no commercial station or network could possibly have risked broadcasting in prime time.

Earlier in the evening there was a presidential news conference covered live by all networks.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

MODEL BEHAVIOR A DISGRACE? Dear Helen:

I belong to a neighbor art school. It runs on a shoestring and can't afford to hire live models, so we decided to take turns posing.

When it came time for nudes, I was shy at first, but others did, and it seemed quite natural.

Well, we are having an exhibit and my portrait was chosen for display. My boy friend insists we attend, as he's proud of me—but he doesn't know I'm in the altogether. I can't talk him out of this. And he isn't the type who would approve.

Outside of breaking a leg so he'll have to spend that evening with me at the hospital, what can I do? —HANGING HEAD Dear H. H.:

Your letter would be more believable if I hadn't also watched that Bill Cosby show in November—same theme, slightly different plot.

But... just in case you're for real: Either buy the portrait and stash it in your attic (I know you wouldn't burn it!), convince your boy friend that "model" behavior is no disgrace—or break a leg! —H.

Dear Helen:

I have three children, all of whose birthdays fall in winter months (snowy January and February).

Would it be bad taste to works. It seemed to be an especially lively session with the president fielding tough questions.

Radio performed with special efficiency during the one-day national rail strike. Stranded commuters and other travelers found on their local stations information about alternate transportation while traffic reports kept automobile drivers informed about clogged roads. Television, with less flexibility, covered the emergency as a news story during its regular news programs.

Anyone who has played the slot machines in that dry desert area where they go for synthetic fiber carpeting (very static prone) knows what I mean. —CAN'T SOMETHING BE DONE? Dear Can't:

celebrate their birthdays during the summer, perhaps at a joint party, where the kids could swim or be outside? My husband and I both come from large families and our parties end up reunions as large as conventions. Maybe one super-party would be better than three? —FOR JUNE BIRTHDAYS Dear FJB:

Sounds like a winner. Happy June! —H.

Dear Helen:

Please print this appeal to last-minute shoppers, especially during the holiday rush.

These people who think that all they have to do is get into the store one minute before closing time! Don't they realize this keeps the poor clerks at their stations until they make up their minds—and the LMS type never does that in a hurry!

I live in a small town where the stores don't even pay minimum wages, much less overtime. Yet I stay several evenings a week up to one-half hour late, losing my ride home (so I must pay cab fare), just to serve people who brag they "made it just in time." —BURNING UP Dear Burning:

Duly printed. I hope shoppers take your words to heart. —H.

Dear Helen:

Having just returned from Las Vegas, I wish to register a complaint. I don't mind losing money on the slots (well, I'm resigned) but do they have to give you a static electric shock every time you touch one? Seems to me that's getting a guy down and then stomping on him, kind of.

Ignoring the obvious (if you can't stand the shock, stay away from the slots), I'd suggest you hit the machine with the back of your hand before touching the handle. This works for elevator buttons and other metal hazards in carpeted areas where dry climate and static-prone people create sparks.

(Note to gambling clubs: Why not put rubber handle covers on your machines? —H.)

Local Teams Turn in Victories

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last night at Mineral Springs, the Hope Bobkittens raised their record to 3-2, by pounding the Hornets, 44-28, with everyone seeing quite a bit of action.

With only 16 seconds played, Gary Rhodes put Hope ahead for the whole game, 1-0, on a free shot and seconds later the Kittens had a 6-0 lead after David Huddleston converted a three point play and Marshall Scott sunk a 10 footer.

After the Hornets came back for three points, Tim Hogan and Scott each popped in four points and Huddleston added two. At that point, with only a few seconds left in the period, Rhodes stole the ball at midcourt and sailed a layup through the hoop for a 20-3 lead moving into the second quarter.

Huddleston and Jimmy Smith kept the hoop burning with some free throws and later with 2:16 left in the half, Stan Nix hit two charity throws and Michael Harris ripped the net once for a 27-10 margin. The first half ended 28-12 after Nix hit a free throw.

Rhodes and Huddleston did all of the third quarter scoring with Ricky Trotter drilling the ball in for two points at the buzzer, for a 37-18 lead with one quarter remaining to play.

After taking the tipoff Hope drove down the court and a good set of quick passes left Huddleston all alone under the goal to bank one in off the board.

Points by James Martin and Hogan gave Hope a 42-20 margin with 3:28 left. After some free for all shooting, Steve Allen hit the last two points for the Kittens, sinking a 10 footer with 14 seconds left to play.

Hope did a fine job of rebounding under the goal and passing down the court, using a strong offense and defense to overpower the smaller Hornets.

High scorer for Hope was Huddleston with 14 points, followed by Hogan hitting seven, Scott getting six, and Rhodes scoring five, while Jimmy Walker led Mineral Springs with nine.

8th Grade Victorious

In an earlier game, the Hope eighth grade whipped Mineral Springs, 31-17, behind a good defensive effort with plenty of rebounding.

The first period saw Clay O'Steen lead the squad with four points, while Eugene Tyree and James Robinson both sunk points also.

With the score 7-0 moving into the second period, Hope began to hit a cold streak.

Two buckets by Dexter Flenory and one by Shelton Cole left the eighth graders with a halftime lead of 12-8.

Only hitting six points in the third period, the eighth grade held a 18-11 and after entering the last period, began pouring it on.

In the last quarter, Jim Rhodes had six points, Tyree and Mike Hobson two, for a well deserved victory.

Leading scorers were Rhodes with seven, Tyree with six, and Flenory with five.

Hope Girls Win

Playing before a large crowd last night in the Blevins tournament the Hope Kittycats whipped the Blevins team, 47-19, and now play Prescott in the finals, Saturday night.

For the first three minutes neither team could hit the hoop, but then Jill Herring put Hope ahead for good with an outside strike. Then Gigi Gladney and Karlene Coleman started hitting and Hope finally led, 13-6, moving into the second period.

Outscoring Blevins, 17-2, in the second quarter, the Kittycats held a 27-8 halftime lead, after the forwards combined on some good passing and rebounding, to keep the ball in their control.

Now, with the starting forwards beginning to hit double figures, the Hope girls had stretched their margin out to 20 points by the end of the third quarter, 33-13, with the reserves starting to come in.

In the last quarter, Pogo Griffin and Gail East got in on the scoring action with the lead

Browns and Cards Picked as Winners

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's 13-game weekend program begins Saturday this week with two nationally televised toughies matching championship contenders—Kansas City at Oakland and Dallas at Cleveland.

The schedule also lists several other games with title ramifications, particularly the New York Giants at St. Louis in a Sunday clash and the Detroit at Los Angeles match-up that will be nationally televised Monday night.

The winners, it says here, will be Kansas City, Dallas, St. Louis and Detroit. You can watch the Cowboys do it on CBS at 1:15 p.m., EST, Saturday, then flip to NBC for the Chiefs' 4 p.m., start. The Lions-Rams will be seen on ABC Monday night at 9 p.m., EST.

Last week's record was 8-5 for an over-all mark of 45-29-4. And, here we go again:

SATURDAY

Kansas City 17, Oakland 13—The Chiefs have the No. 1 defense in the AFC. The Raiders have the No. 1 offense. Always figure defense to beat offense. The winner clinches the Western Division title in the AFC and a playoff spot.

Dallas 31, Cleveland 24—Leroy Kelly is running well for the Browns and they seem to have a hex on the Cowboys in recent years. But you have to appreciate the way Coach Tom Landry is running the Dallas club now. Both teams in title running in respective divisions.

SUNDAY

St. Louis 28, New York Giants 24—The Cardinals are first in NFC East, the Giants in a second-place tie with Cowboys. St. Louis could clinch by beating New York if Dallas also loses. The figuring here is that MacArthur Lane will outrush Ron Johnson for the difference.

Baltimore 27, Buffalo 20—The Colts will wrap up the AFC East title with a victory. Teams played to a 17-17 tie in first meeting, but the Bills have lost several players since. Johnny Unitas may not be able to throw long, but still throws accurately.

San Francisco 35, New Orleans 17—Should be a breeze for the 49ers, tied with Los Angeles for the NFC West Lead, unless they're caught looking the other way. John Brodie should have a field day against porous Saints' defense.

Cincinnati 27, Houston 20—Charley Johnson lost to the Oilers again, leaving Jerry Rhyme to quarterback. Bengals, tied with Browns for lead in AFC Central, have the incentive going for them that Houston has to lack.

New York Jets 21, Miami 20—A hunch that the defensively-tough Jets will not suffer a let-down after one-point, last-second loss to Oakland and continue to prove they can win without Joe Namath.

Minnesota 35, Boston 10—First meeting between Vikings and their former quarterback, Joe Kapp. Will they ever want to show Joe a thing or two, even though they have clinched NFC Central title.

Atlanta 28, Pittsburgh 21—Bob Berry's scrambling should create enough difficulty to confound the Steelers' defense and let the Falcons sneak in with their fourth victory of the year.

Denver 24, San Diego 20—The Broncos' defense should be able to thwart the Chargers' offense, particularly if Lance Alworth doesn't play for San Diego. He's suing them.

Green Bay 31, Chicago 17—The NFL's oldest rivalry, in its 104th renewal, will go to the Packers on sore-armed Bart Starr's skill to hit the money pass.

Philadelphia 27, Washington 21—The Redskins haven't been as solid as earlier in the season. First-string runners Larry Brown and Charley Harroway return, but losing trend may not be reversible.

MONDAY

Detroit 28, Los Angeles 17—Lions looking for playoff berth as NFC runner-up with best record. Rams looking for NFC West title. The pick is the Lions on the running of Mel Farr and a defense that should be able to harass Roman Gabriel.

Hot Springs won the Class AAA state championship and was named No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll.

Colorado to Defend in Liberty Bowl

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado defends its Liberty Bowl title Saturday against a Tulane team whose players weren't even born the last time the Green Wave took part in post-season play as college football's bowl barrage begins.

The Buffaloes, quarterbacked by Jim Bratten, rumbled over Alabama 47-33 in last year's classic in Memphis, Tenn. But Bratten is a questionable starter for the 12th annual Liberty Bowl since injuring a knee in practice earlier this week.

Tulane, with a 7-4 record compared to Colorado's 6-4, is making its first bowl appearance since 1940 when Texas A&M nosed out the Green Wave 14-13 in the Sugar Bowl. Saturday's clash in the first ever between the Greenies and the Buffs.

In Sacramento, Calif., Montana's Grizzlies are sharpening their claws for their Camellia Bowl clash with North Dakota State.

"We've been wanting a rematch ever since last year," Montana Coach Jack Swarthroat said, referring to the Bisons' 30-3 romp over the Grizzlies.

The game at Hughes Stadium also pits the No. 2 and No. 3 college division teams. Montana, which trailed only Arkansas State in the rankings, swept its 10 games this season while the Bisons' only blemish on a nine-game schedule was a 14-14 tie with Eastern Michigan.

The Boardwalk, Pecan, Grandland Rice, Orange Blossom and NAIA Champion bowls round out Saturday's major action.

It's the third annual Boardwalk Bowl in Atlantic City, N.J., and the third visit for Delaware, 8-2. The Blue Hens, who beat Indiana, Pa., 31-24 in the 1968 inaugural and ripped North Carolina Central 31-13 last year, face a Morgan State squad with an 8-1 record.

Arkansas State, undefeated in 10 games, will also be defending its crown when it faces Central Missouri State, 9-1, in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex. The Indians, who toppled Drake 29-21 in the post-season game a year ago, ripped Central Missouri 54-6 in the teams' only other meeting 11 years ago.

Tennessee State, 10-0, faces Southwestern Louisiana, 9-2, in the Grandland Rice Bowl at Baton Rouge, La., the Orange Blossom Bowl in Miami, Fla., the only night game, pits Jacksonville, Ala., 9-0, against Florida A&M, 5-4, and Wofford, 11-0, will tackle Texas A&I, 10-1, in Greenville, S.C., for the NAIA crown.

Whisk Going After Liberty Bell Stakes

Thoroughbred racing belongs to its kids—the 2-year-olds—Saturday, with a $50,000-added juvenile stake on each coast.

Mrs. Russell L. Reineman's Whisk, already a veteran of top stakes competition, heads a probable field of seven for the 1 1/16-mile Heritage Stakes at Liberty Bell, while Mrs. Connie Ring's Two Worlds a winner of three stakes, is one of 15 entered for the 1 1/8-mile Bay Meadows Juvenile.

Whisk, winner of the Hawthorne Juvenile and a competitor in prestige races like the Champagne and the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity, is expected to be opposed by such as Peter Fuller's Northern Jove, T.E. Wood Jr.'s Dothan and Frank Turner's Swift Pursuit.

Northern Jove, a Canadian-bred son of Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, scored impressive victories in his last two starts, both at Laurel.

Two Worlds is expected to get his toughest opposition from J.H. Roses's Jeanenes Lark, Gene De Piano's Goden's Goal and Colvin, McBride and Purner Jr.'s Serenader.

Raiders and Chiefs Play Saturday

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Oakland Raiders, already the National Football League champions in winning cliff hangers, play the Kansas City Chiefs Saturday and the winner should end up as the king of the mountain in the American Conference's Western Division.

The battle of the bitter rivals will depend on the kicking of the Chiefs' accurate Jan Stenerud and the Raiders man of the second, George Blanda. The kicking of the 43-year-old Blanda has provided Oakland with three victories and a tie in the over-all space of 16 seconds.

A victory will put the winner a game in front with an 8-3-2 record with one game left. The two clubs played a tie in their first meeting.

In another game Saturday, this one also on national television, Cleveland, 6-6, tied for first in the AFC's Central Division with Cincinnati will host Dallas, 8-4 and tied for second with the New York Giants in the National Conference's Eastern Division.

The Giants 8-4, will plat at St. Louis, 8-3-1, and first in the NFC East, Sunday. In other Sunday games, Cincinnati, 6-6, is at Houston, 3-8-1; San Francisco, 8-3-1, at New Orleans, 2-9-1; Baltimore, 9-2-1, at Buffalo, 3-8-1; New York Jets, 4-8 at Miami, 8-4; San Diego, 4

Squires Are on the Move in ABA Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Virginia Squires are on the move in the American Basketball Association.

The Squires wallowed the New York Nets 127-100 for their fifth in a row Thursday night, moving them within 1½ games of idle first-place Kentucky in the East Division. It was the second time in three nights the Squires had humbled the Nets.

In other ABA action, Memphis topped the Floridians 107-102 and Denver belted Pittsburgh 131-109.

Chicago drubbed Buffalo 138-120 in the only National Basketball Association game scheduled.

On Tuesday night in New York the Squires nipped the Nets 120-116 as Rick Barry—playing for the first time since a foot injury sidelined him Oct. 23—was held to 15 points by his former teammates.

He got only seven Thursday night at Hampton, Va., while George Carter and Neil Johnson each hit 23 for Virginia as the Squires piled up a 67-42 halftime lead. Bill Melchionni got 23 for the Nets.

Jimmy, Steve and Wilbert Jones combined for 59 Memphis points with Jimmy topping the trio with 24. The Pros, commanding the backboards, slowly pulled away from the Floridians in the final quarter. Mack Calvin hit 23 for the losers.

Julie Hammond threw in 28 points to lead Denver over the Condors. A 15-6 spurt in the last period by the Rockets broke open a close game. John Brisker scored 35 points for the losers.

The Chicago Bulls pulled away in the second half for their easy victory over Buffalo in the only NBA game, which was played at Syracuse. Jerry Sloan led the Bulls with 34 points. Bob Kauffman was high for the Braves with 31.

More Players Added to American Bowl

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The American Bowl had added seven players—three from North-western, and two each from Dartmouth and Grambling—for the grid classic Jan. 10 at Tampa Stadium.

Named from Northwestern were linebacker Joe Hall, offensive tackle John Hiltman and center Joe Zigulich.

Coming from Dartmouth are safety Willie Bogdan and Rover back Murray Bowden.

The five will play for the North team coached by Nebraska's Bob Devaney.

The Grambling players announced are halfback Virgil Robinson and defensive tackle Samuel Holden, who joins the South squad under Shug Jordan of Auburn.

Jerry Moore Invited to Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Duke University's Leo Hart and Alabama's Scott Hunter — whose combined career passing yardage totals more than 11,000 yards — were invited today to quarterback the South team in the 22nd annual Senior Bowl all-star game Jan. 9.

The 29-man South squad of senior collegians invited to play includes nine players who were named to The Associated Press All-America squad.

They include North Carolina's great running back, Don McCauley, and Tennessee's rugged offensive lineman, 245-pound Chip Kelli, both of whom were named to the first team.

Second-teamers were Clemson center Dave Thompson, Texas defensive end Bill Atessis, LSU defensive tackle John Sage, Florida defensive lineman Jack Youngblood and Tulane linebacker Rick Kingrea.

Larry Willingham, defensive secondary ace for Auburn, and Mississippi offensive tackle

Worthy McClure were on the third team.

Hart completed 160 of 308 Duke passes this season to up his career production to 487 of 870 for 6,116 yards and 23 touchdowns.

Hunter, a resident of neighboring Prichard, Ala., connected on 103 of 179 passes for 1,240 yards and eight touchdowns in 1970. His three-year count was 382 of 672 for 4,889 yards and 27 touchdowns.

McCauley, who broke O. J. Simpson's one-season national rushing record with 1,720 this season, is one of three running backs invited. The others are Auburn's Mickey Zofko and Northeast Louisiana State's 195-pound Joe Profit, a first team Little All-America choice.

Many of the players cannot accept Senior Bowl invitations until after they compete with their teams in postseason bowl games.

Wide receivers invited include the Southeastern Conference's 1970 reception leader, David Smith of Mississippi State, and Duke's Wes Chesson. Each caught 74 passes this season. A third wide man is 9.5 sprinter Frank Lewis of Grambling College.

North Carolina's 6-3, 245-pound Tony Blanchard, son of ex-Army great Felix (Doc) Blanchard, has been asked to fill the tight end slot.

Kell, McClure and Thompson are listed among six offensive linemen who average 6-4 and 255 pounds. Others are 6-5, 256-pound Wimpy Winter of Mississippi; 6-6, 256-pound John Mooring of Tampa; and 6-5, 260-pound Vern Holland of Tennessee A. & I.

Atessis, Sage and Youngblood are among five defensive linemen averaging almost 6-4 and 246 pounds. Others are 265-pound Richard Harris of Grambling and 237-pound Scott Palmer of Texas.

Holland and Harris were first team Little All-America choices, as were the two linebackers who have been asked to join Kingrea and make it an all-Louisiana tandem. The latter are Ronnie Hornsby of Southeastern Louisiana and Isaiah Robertson of Southern University of Baton Rouge.

Willingham is among five defensive secondary standouts, including Tommy Wade of Alabama, Jerry Moore of Arkansas, Tim Priest of Tennessee and Leonard Dunlap of North Texas State.

Alabama's Richard Ciemny, whose 56 points by kicking led Tide scoring, has been invited to handle the placement chores.

The North squad, announced earlier this week, included quarterbacks Lynn Dickey of Kansas State and Dan Pastorini of Santa Clara.

Members of the winning squad will receive $1,500 each and the losers $1,250 each. The two squads will be directed by professional head coaches and members of their staffs.

Syracuse Plans No Changes in Personnel

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The chancellor of Syracuse university stated Thursday that, as far as he was concerned, a committee report on racism in the school's athletic department did not require any "personnel changes."

In a statement concerning the committee set up to investigate charges made by black football players against Syracuse coaches, Chancellor John Corbally Jr. called the committee's conclusion "fair."

The committee's report released Wednesday described racism in the athletic department as "real, chronic, largely unintentional, and sustained by many modes of behavior common in American athletics and long-standing at Syracuse University."

Made up of trustees, students and faculty members, the study group was set up after black players boycotted football practice, claiming Syracuse had reneged on its promise to hire a black coach in time for spring training. Later the players were suspended from the team.

Yastrzemski Wins Third Batting Title

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox won the American League slugging championship for the third time in six years, the official 1970 figures released by the league office showed today.

The hard-hitting outfielder-first baseman had 40 homers and 29 doubles (he didn't hit any triples) among his 186 hits, giving him 335 total bases in 566 times at bat for a .592 slugging percentage.

Boog Powell of Baltimore finished adistant second at .549, with Washington's Frank Howard and Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew tied for third at .546.

Yastrzemski's previous slugging titles came in 1965 with a .535 mark and in 1967 with .622. Howard topped the league in bases on balls for the first time with 132, edging Yaz and Killebrew, who had 128 each. The Washington slugger also got the most intentional walks, 29.

In the dubious distinction category, Cleveland's Roy Foster was hit by the most pitches (12), Oakland's Reggie Jackson struck out 135 times to be high in that department for the third year in a row, and Killebrew grounded into the most forced double plays—28.

The various miscellaneous records released showed Boston taking club slugging honors for the second straight season and the third time in the past four years. The Red Sox fashioned a team mark of .428, highest in the league since 1963, to outdistance Minnesota, which was next at .403.

There were 18 major league records broken, 24 AL marks smashed, and numerous other records tied during the season.

The champion Baltimore Orioles set one of the major league marks when they stretched their consecutive victory streak over one club to 23. The two-year string against Kansas City is still running.

Among the individual highlights, Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox, since traded to Boston, established a major league record of 2,219 games played at shortstop. And Baltimore slugger Frank Robinson tied a major league mark held by six others when he hit two grand slam homers in the same game.

Fireballing left-hander Sam McDowell of Cleveland broke the AL record for most times striking out 10 or more batters in one game, extending his career mark to 70, and tied another league standard by striking out 300 or more in a season for the second time.

IRA BERKOW

Christy---Hagen, Hogan to Irish

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

FREEMPORT, Bahamas—(NEA)—Christy O'Connor, who has been described as an Irish combination of Ben Hogan and Walter Hagen, sallied across the seas to help dedicate a new golf course here called Shannon. To add Gaelic atmosphere to this subtropical site, O'Connor had brought a symbolic clump of Auld Sod, but denied it was one of his divots.

Then he went out and tore up the course with a 70 and pronounced it fit. Christy O'Connor is an authority, as well as a legend, though we in America wouldn't know him if we fell over his pitching wedge.

Ask him where he is from in Ireland and you get an aria:

"If it's maybe some day I'll go back to Ireland,
Be it only at the closing of my day,
Just to see the moon rise over Cladagh,
And watch the sun go down on Galway Bay."

"That's where I'm from," he said. "Galway."

And his is a putter of honor in his home town. This year he was acclaimed a "Free Man of Galway." He said he was only the 11th man to get the honor, and the only Galwegian. Other recipients include John F. Kennedy and Cardinal Cushing.

This year has been O'Connor's finest as a golfer, too. He won the John Player Classic in Nottingham, England, and with it the biggest single money prize in golf, 25,000 pounds, or nearly $60,000. He beat Tony Jacklin by a stroke for it, while Jacklin was still fresh from his U.S. Open triumph.

O'Connor, with the ruddy flush of Ireland upon his cheeks, is perhaps the finest golfer in Irish history. Now, questions arise as to just what that history is, since there were no James Braids or Henry Cottons or Harry Vardons or Bobby Joneses in it.

"We had some fabulous players," he said, "like Jimmy Brun, who at 18 years of age was one of the longest strikers in the world—and with a hurling swing yet. And Fred Daley who once won the British Open. But most of us never did get world-famous because we were a nation that kind of stayed at home."

"Once in so often someone from the British Isles made a winter tour to South Africa or somewhere. We'd sit back while knocking back an old Guinness and say, 'Lucky stiff, to be off in the sunny climes.'"

O'Connor, now 46 and club pro at the Royal Dublin Country Club, said he remembers then going back to his lessons or reshaping clubs or even making his own block and fashioning the entire club.

"Nowadays," he said, "that's all factory work. But even today when things are quiet in the winters, I go back to the block. Great satisfaction, it is."

Golf in Ireland has been popular ever since O'Connor can remember, and that goes back to when he was 10 years old and a 10-handicap.

"I think Ireland might be the most popular country in the world for golf," he said. "There are about 380 golf courses in the nation. There are nearly 50 around Dublin."

"Per inch, I'd say that Dublin has more golf courses than any other city in the world."

In the last 10 years he said the game has grown incredibly there. "There are Pitch-and-Putts all through the city and down the country," he said.

People ask O'Connor why he doesn't make the American tour, and he says that the competition is stiff, that he must be near his home course and he made nearly $80,000 in tournament prizes this season in England. Oh, yes, and there's always Galway, he croons:

"Oh the winds that blow across the sea to Ireland
And perfume the Galway heather as it blows . . ."

How do you get to play at three spades with the South hand?

When the hand was played in a recent tournament, everyone who opened one spade jumped to game when East reopened.

The standard American players who opened two spades also jumped to four after partner responded with two no-trump. So did most of the South players who opened with a forcing two-club bid. They received a negative two-diamond response but wanted to gamble the hand out at game anyway.

One pair did stop at three spades. They got there by playing JACOBY MODERN two clubs with the JACOBY MODERN responses. North's two-diamond call showed 0-3 high-card points. South rebid two spades to show his suit and North went to three clubs. South was tempted to bid four spades, but realized North had limited himself to a maximum of three high-card points when he responded two diamonds. He couldn't hold an ace. Undoubtedly, whatever high cards he held would be in clubs and useless to South.

Could North hold a singleton in one of the red suits, together with some trumps? He could, but then he would raise three spades to four. North had a king. The most he could have for his two-diamond response. He also felt that his three-club bid had indicated possession of that king and that South would have bid four spades if he could use it. Since the two-club opening is only forcing to one trick from game, North decided to pass.

GIGANTIC is a good description for this 2,800-pound experimental tire. Designated the XT-70, the big, belted, 28-ply-rated, low-profile unit is 40 inches wide and designed to permit huge front-end loaders to handle larger bites with greater stability. Beer for Babies? Skip It! Why Create Problems?

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you tell me if and how harmful it would be to let infants have access to beer. Some people seem to think it's great to give some babies beer. I thought it would be harmful.—A concerned grandmother.

Dear Reader—The alcohol in the beer will act as a sedative. It is a drug. Like all other medicine, the amount tolerated by little people is smaller than the amount tolerated by adults.

Essentially, beer does the same thing to little people that it does to big people. Other than its use in moderation for a social lubricant (not needed for babies) or as a sedative, it has no inherent value in either children or adults.

Some people like the taste of beer; others don't. It does contain calories and does not provide essential vitamins or other nutrients.

Since taste and habits are acquired, I am not in favor of cultivating a taste for alcoholic beverages of any kind in children. In our permissive society I would fear this might lead to early problems in using excess alcohol or trying other more harmful drugs.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Five years ago my son, now 22, had rheumatic fever. There was no heart damage. His legs are no longer as strong as they were before he became ill. Do you suppose that there could be heart damage which cannot be detected and cause poor circulation which would account for the loss of leg strength?

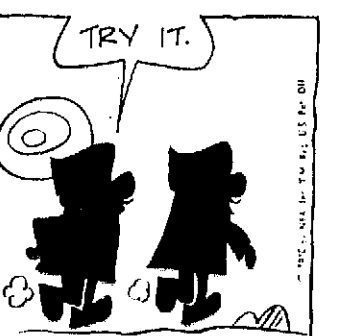

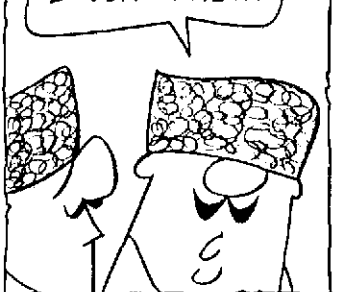

Dear Reader—Rheumatic fever does not cause poor circulation unless the heart is also damaged. A careful physical examination by a competent doctor would easily determine if there is any evidence of heart damage or any continued rheumatic activity and if the circulation to the legs is normal. If your son appears in good health, he probably needs an exercise program to improve his physical condition. Muscles not used become weak even in healthy people.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Are

He Shares His Belief

When Steve Spurrier was ten, he came home from school one day and said to his older brother, Graham: "Graham, our school nurse said the most important thing in the world is good health. But that's not right. The most important thing is to believe in God and Jesus Christ."

Steve Spurrier, the 1966 Heisman Trophy winner, now playing pro football with the San Francisco 49ers, has carried his simple faith all through his illustrious athletic career. Son of a Presbyterian minister, Steve prayed when he played at Science Hill High School in Johnson City, Tennessee. Not to win, but for courage and strength to do his best.

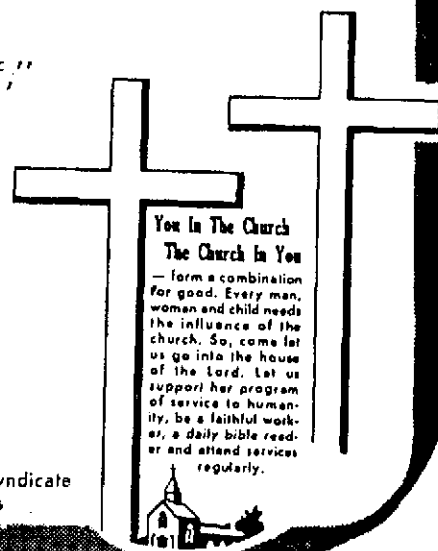

Secretary of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus at the University of Florida, Steve believed and prayed when he led the 'Gators to multiple "come from behind" victories over conference rivals and post-bowl opponents.

It's always too soon to quit, when you believe in your fellowman and yourself," says Steve in his book by that title. All American for two years and heralded as the nation's best quarterback in 1966, Steve Spurrier learned early in life that self control helps you play your best and never give up till the last gun goes off.

Now facing tougher tests in pro ball, Steve still passes, punts, and prays with the same basic belief in Christian ideals. "I can never be thankful enough for the Christian home into which I was born," he says. "I only hope that my own home will influence my children as much as my parents' home influenced me".

You too, can share the Steve Spurrier belief, if only you will, at your own place of worship this week.

Johnson's Book Gets Priority
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University is negotiating with former President Lyndon B. Johnson to become a Chubb Fellow, but he is giving priority to completion of a book.
Elton Morison, master of Timothy Dwight College, which is host to the Chubb Fellows, said Johnson had declined the invitation at least temporarily.
The Chubb Fellows chairs were established in 1949 with an endowment from an 1895 Yale alumnus, Hendon Chubb. The purpose is to attract public figures to Yale to talk to students and hold seminars.

Women Do Much of Work in Prisons
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Do women belong in prison? Many people think not.
The Arkansas Legislature established a prison for men who were convicted of crimes. They created a Women's Reformatory.
Arkansas prosecutors and juries sent 1,400 men to prison. They sent only 40 women to be confined in the state Department of Correction.
That's not counting the 30 women who entered the Correction Department voluntarily—as employees.
Department officials said recently that almost 19 per cent of the total payroll consisted of women.
Most work as secretaries or typists and some never see a prison. They work in the Little Rock offices of the department.
However, several women are employed at both Tucker and Cummins State Prison Farms, and others must visit both prisons in the course of their duties.
Beverly Young began working in the department last summer at a post created especially for her.
She is the associate superintendent at Cummins who is responsible for the Women's Reformatory.
Mrs. Young, 32, is the daughter of Hal and Hazel Travis of Stuttgart. She is divorced and has a daughter, Tiffany, who is 7.
Her job is to provide some rehabilitation programs for the women.
Before she came to the reformatory, Mrs. Young was a parole and probation specialist for the Economic Opportunity Agency in Pulaski County. She acquired the job when she discovered jobs for parolees was practically nonexistent, Mrs. Young said in an interview recently.
So far rehabilitation for the women has been more of a promise than a program, Mrs. Young said.
"Morale is high here and that's the only thing we have," Mrs. Young said.
The women need some job that will give them a little earning power, like the men, Mrs. Young said, and they should participate in more instructional programs than they do now.
For example, she said, the women should have an opportunity to sell their blood in the plasma program. That would give some a chance to earn $5 a week.
Callie Shull of Little Rock is responsible for the health of 1,400 inmates.
She is the prison dietitian.
Mrs. Shull, 32, is the wife of Ralph Shull, an executive with the state Planning Commission.
Her description of the working conditions is succinct:
"I never worked in a place that had totally nothing to work with."
Although her husband thinks she is "nuts," Mrs. Shull said, she is determined to continue work at the prison until some improvements are made. These include new kitchen equipment, and proper food supply, she said.
"You can see the things you do," Mrs. Shull said. "It's rewarding."
Cynthia Houchin of Little Rock was one of the first women employed under the Rockefeller administration. She started out as secretary to the executive secretary to the state Board of Correction.
She is now an administrative assistant in charge of procuring grants to fund prison programs.

There Is a Solution for Lemon Owners

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Problem: you bought a new car this fall. The first week the carburetor needed adjustment. The second week the electrical system failed. The third week the brakes went out. And the fourth week the lemon just conked out completely.

Solution: Stop making those $80 a month payments until the car is put in working order.

That solution seems like a dream to owners of automotive lemons. But in Massachusetts a new set of laws has made such recourse more than a dream—it has, one official said, become "a real possibility." And consumer advocates are working to get similar laws across the country.

Laurence R. Buxbaum, the Massachusetts assistant attorney general who described the car scenario as a possibility, adds: "To my knowledge it has never been tested." The state's newest law is only a few months old.

The main effort nationwide has been in stripping the law of provisions which have created a haven for outright swindles. The swindles have included home improvements and the sales of pots and pans, records, books and food freezers.

Getting the heaviest scrutiny is a doctrine called holder in due course. Massachusetts has outlawed it. Virginia Knauer, the President's assistant for consumer affairs, has urged other states to follow suit. The Consumer Federation of America has endorsed its repeal.

What is holder in due course? A New Jersey family found out when they signed a contract to purchase a stereo record player and 140 record albums over a three-year period.

The family received the record player and 12 albums and began making monthly payments of $22.77. They never received another record, yet it wasn't until the family had paid over $300 that they tried to stop making payments.

It turned out the firm which had sold the record player and albums had gone bankrupt. Meanwhile, the firm had sold the lending note signed by the family to a finance company. The finance company argued it was not a holder in due course, meaning it was not responsible for the performance of the record seller and was entitled to collect the money due under the contract, even if the merchandise was never delivered. The finance company demanded the $500 the family still owed.

The trial court upheld the finance company. Fortunately for the family, a higher court ruled that because the name of the finance company was printed on the back of the lending note at the time the sale was made, the finance company was familiar with the record sales firm and thus not protected by holder in due course.

The family was able to get out from under the debt because the finance company had made the tactical error of pre-printing its name on the back of the contract. Other consumers have not been so lucky.

Attorneys at the National Consumer Law Center, an Office of Economic Opportunity study center at Boston College, say the most flagrant abuses of holder in due course are in the home improvement sales field.

Holder in due course permits shady operators to set up business with nothing but a telephone and a rented office. A blitz from salesmen working on commission hits an area. Local contractors are hired to do the work. A few months later, home owners who have paid for new siding find only one side of their house done or the siding peeling, flaking and falling off. But the siding seller has sold his financing contracts to somebody else, taken the cash and left town. The homeowners are left with sizeable debts, a shoddy job and no way to get back at the seller.

"It's a tremendous umbrella protection for fraud," said Blair Shick, one of the center lawyers who has specialized in holder in due course.

The doctrine dates back to the 17th century, when it was adopted as a device to keep money flowing in mercantile transactions. Although not originally intended for consumer transactions, it survives today in some form in all but a handful of states.

outlays it in the purchase of cars and other real property. New Hampshire, Connecticut and Rhode Island have banned its use in home solicitation. Rhode Island also bans it in car sales.

Court cases in New Jersey, California, Alaska and Hawaii have weakened the impact of holder in due course.

Support for holder in due course usually comes from small lenders and small businessmen. Opposition to it is broad based, including—at least in Massachusetts—large banks.

Dermott P. Shea, executive director of the Massachusetts Consumer Council, said results of a 1966 law restricting the doctrine have been "most remarkable ... In the first year we knocked off 50 per cent of the fly-by-nights."

Arlington Seeking a New Coach

ARLINGTON, Tex., (AP) — The University of Texas at Arlington was searching for a new head football coach today in the wake of the resignation Wednesday of Burley Bearden, who saw his team sink to an 0-10 season this year.

Bearden, who had a 27-25 overall record at UTA, will remain at the school, teaching mathematics and physical education. The 53-year-old Bearden succeeded C. R. (Chena) Gilstrap in 1965.

Longhorns, Porkers Out of Slump

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns came out of their non-conference basketball slump like a branded calf Thursday night, blistering Southern Illinois with the hottest shooting seen along the banks of the Colorado River in some time.

Texas shot a sizzling 61 per cent from the field to whip tough Illinois 107-100. It was the first victory of the year for the Longhorns after three consecutive losses.

For the Salukis, it was their first loss in three games.

Senior forward Billy Black scored a career high of 31 points with 8 of 13 from the field and 15 of 16 from the free throw line. Junior forward Lynn Howden made 9 of 11 from the field for 21 points.

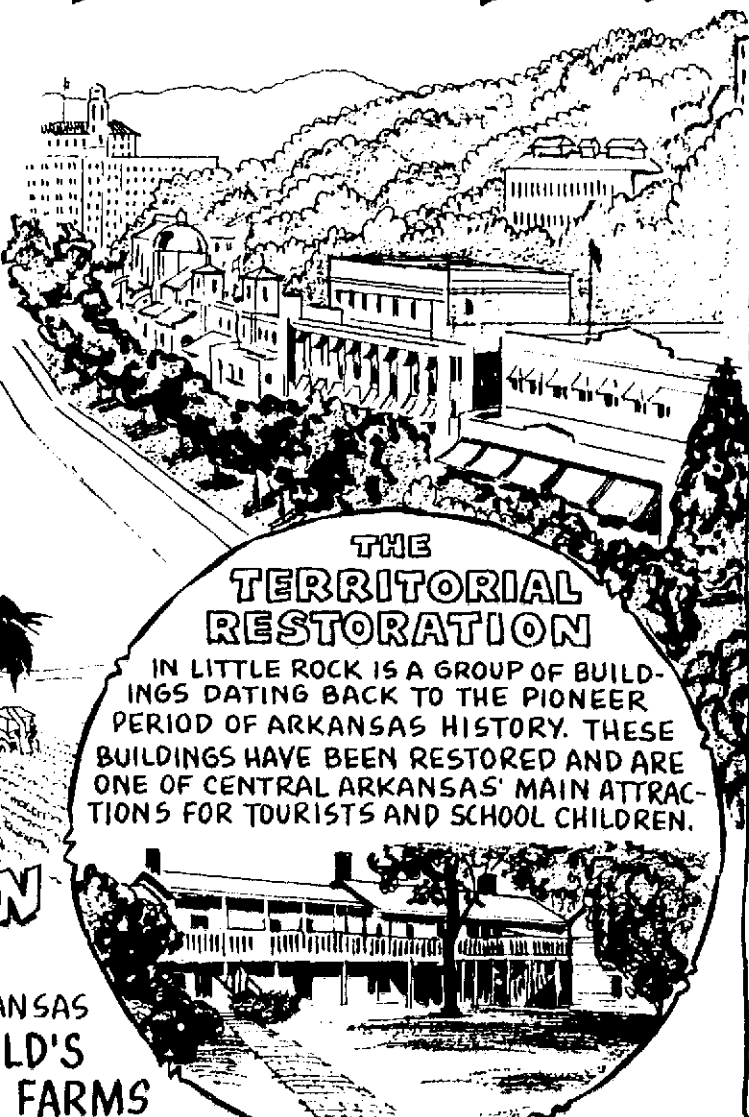

L. C. Brasfield scored 37 points—26 in the second half—for Southern Illinois.

In other games involving SWC teams, defending champion Rice took a 73-57 thrashing at the hands of Colorado State, and Arkansas battered the Kansas State College at Pittsburg, Kan.

Rail Unions Bow to U.S. Court Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trains thundered down the tracks again today after railroad workers ended a 24-hour strike under orders from Congress, federal courts and union leaders.

"I now order my people to return to work immediately," said strike leader C.L. Dennis after a federal judge threatened fines of $200,000 a day if the walkout continued and the government pledged prompt new talks aimed at finally settling the year-long wage dispute.

Negotiations continued today. Striking union members downed picket signs and went back to work in most areas to begin moving stranded commuters, tons of Christmas mail and other rail shipments under a special federal law forbidding further striking until March 1.

It was only the third nationwide rail strike in half a century. The end of the walkout made unnecessary White House priorities for moving emergency shipments of medical supplies, defense materials, food, fuel and other essential goods by air, ship and truck.

Chief railroad negotiator John P. Hiltz said the industry would begin processing payrolls to put into effect the immediate 13.5 per cent pay hike Congress ordered for nearly 500,000 rail workers along with the strike ban.

"It will undermine our bargaining position," Hiltz complained of the pay raises directly legislated by Congress for only the second time in history, but added, "It's the law and we're not going to jail."

The first time Congress imposed pay hikes was just eight months ago, in a special law to avert a threatened nationwide rail strike by four rail shopcraft unions.

Dennis, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, said his 200,000 union members were returning to work under threats of fines and jail sentences, but expressed hope for working out the rest of the settlement peacefully.

The 13.5 per cent immediate pay hike imposed by Congress was part of a three-year, 37 per cent package of wage increases offered by the rail industry but rejected by the unions before the walkout.

The offer would raise current top pay rates—ranging from $3.40 to $3.60 per hour—by $1.32 over three years, but the unions objected to work-rule changes demanded by the industry in exchange for the wage hikes.

Congress told rail union and industry leaders to work out the rest of the settlement in collective bargaining during the 80-day strike ban it imposed.

Farm Family Title Goes to Bradley Farmer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Andrew Whisenhunt family of Bradley (Lafayette County) was named Arkansas' "Farm Family of the Year" at a luncheon here today.

Gov. — elect Dale Bumpers spoke at the luncheon and presented the awards.

The Whisenhunts competed with families from 67 counties for the state title.

The Whisenhunts manage a 1,700-acre cotton, soybean, corn and timber operation that began with a 80-acre purchase in 1957.

They have five children.

Bumpers to Protect Young Offenders

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. — elect Dale Bumpers says he will propose legislation that would prohibit judges from sending offenders age 18 and younger to the state penitentiary.

Bumpers made the statement Thursday while revealing portions of his legislative plans during a speech to the Pulaski County Bar Association.

He said youthful offenders would be housed in the Tucker Intermediate Reformatory or the juvenile training schools or, if possible, some other facility to be constructed for that purpose.

Bumpers said he probably would seek funds to construct a minimum security unit for prisoners who are not a threat to other convicts or society. A maximum security unit is under construction at Cummins Prison Farm.

He later told newsmen that replacement of the women's reformatory at Cummins was "an absolute must."

Bumpers said he supported the idea advanced by the state Department of Correction of replacing all gun-carrying trusts with civilian guards in the coming biennium, but said how much can be done will depend on the amount of money that is available.

He said elimination of the trusty system is necessary before there can be real rehabilitation of inmates. He said he would support a request that the number of parole officers be increased from 10 to 31.

During his speech, Bumpers said there is a need for legislation to require larger cash reserves for insurance companies. He said increased amount of capital in reserve would protect policyholders if their company went bankrupt.

He also said he doubted if the people would adopt the proposed state constitution in 1972 if the document, defeated in the November general election, were resubmitted to the electorate.

Bumpers said, however, that

Mother Just Wouldn't Understand Recipes in Gourmet Catalogue

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN

NEW YORK (AP) — My favorite gourmet cookware shop has issued a new catalogue filled with such exotic Christmas gift possibilities as bird's nest fryers and safety bagel holders.

Mother—who has cooked 35 years without owning a set of measuring cups—just wouldn't understand.

It offers, for example, "the only authentic implement for preparation of couscous," which is said to be "so popular in articulate dining circles recently."

In case you do not know how to make the North African dish, a recipe is included with the utensil.

The bird's nest fryer is really two wire baskets, one smaller than the other, to be used to deep fry a "nest" of such things as potato slices, bread or cake. They can be served filled with meat, vegetables or pudding.

There are these other appealing items to put under the tree: Apple and pear divider, which looks like a small spoke wheel and cuts the fruit into 14 equal slices.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supersonic transport plane has won $210 million and a chance of survival from a House-Senate conference. But opponents vow they'll talk all winter rather than approve a project they say will endanger the environment.

An understanding emerged from the conference Thursday night that eventually might allow spending all the $290 million President Nixon asked to develop two prototypes of the 1,800-mile-an-hour super plane.

The conferees suggested the President ask for a supplemental appropriation if the SST program incurs "unusual expenses" in the rest of the fiscal year.

Bank Records of Dr. Snow Subpoenaed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The embezzlement retrial of Robert L. Pruitt was recessed Thursday after Circuit Judge Russell C. Roberts granted a motion asking that the bank records of State College of Arkansas President Dr. Silas D. Snow and his wife be subpoenaed.

Pruitt, a former head cashier at SCA, is charged in a four-count indictment of diverting $28,655 from college funds to his own use during a nine-month period in 1969.

Pruitt's first hearing in July resulted in a mistrial when the deputy prosecuting attorney gave campaign cards to two jurors.

Murray Miller of Phoenix, Ariz., Pruitt's attorney, also asked in his motion for disbursement records, cash journals, all receipts, daily recaps, summary sheets and other college records for the years 1967, 1968, 1969 and 1970.

After granting the motion, Roberts recessed the hearing until Monday as he could hear another case set for today in Johnson Circuit Court at

No Deaths in War on Thursday

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Field reports indicate no Americans were killed on the battlefields of Indochina Thursday, the U.S. Command reported today. It was the ninth time this year U.S. forces have gone through an entire day without suffering a fatality in combat, spokesmen said.

No significant action was reported for U.S. forces, underlining the steady scaling down of American ground operations. And the U.S. Command reported only five North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rocket and mortar attacks from 8 a.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. Friday, one of the lightest shelling days of the war.

However, South Vietnamese forces reported a total of 81 North Vietnamese killed deep in the Mekong Delta across the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese troops sweeping through the U Minh forest, a long time enemy base area deep in the Delta, said they killed 30 enemy soldiers with the help of helicopter gunships. Field reports said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and 15 were wounded.

Fighting raged for the second day near the Cambodian town of Krok about 85 miles northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that 400 of its Rangers clashed with North Vietnamese troops from the 7th Division during a road-clearing mission Thursday.

Backed by artillery and bombers, the Rangers claimed they killed 31 North Vietnamese and said they found the bodies of 20 more killed by air strikes. Two South Vietnamese were reported killed and two wounded.

In southern Cambodia, meanwhile, Cambodian troops were reported advancing from the northwest and from the south in an attempt to reopen Phnom Penh's Highway 4 to the Sea. Shortages of gasoline and other imports were developing in the Cambodian capital.

The South Vietnamese government announced today that it is considering another unilateral release of disabled North Vietnamese prisoners of war. The Defense Ministry was meeting to consider the matter.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said some North Vietnamese might be freed even if Hanoi refuses to accept Saigon's proposal at the Paris Peace talks Thursday for an exchange of prisoners during the Christmas season.

Last July, the South Vietnamese government returned 62 disabled prisoners and 24 fishermen to North Vietnam.

Skies Due to Clear in Arkansas

The National Weather Service says that skies will begin to clear tonight as a high pressure system begins to control Arkansas' weather.

A cold front moved into the state Thursday night dropping temperatures 20 degrees in its path and bringing showers. However, the forecast through Sunday is for sunny skies and cool temperatures. Rain is again indicated by Monday or Tuesday.

The highs Thursday ranged from 65 at Fayetteville to 76 at Little Rock.

Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 30; Harrison, 35; Jonesboro, 54; Pine Bluff, 60; El Dorado, 60; Memphis, 62; Little Rock, 57; Fort Smith, 36.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. today included: .37 of an inch of rain at Fayetteville; .27 at Fort Smith; and a trace at Harrison, Jonesboro and Little Rock.

Wreck Fatal at Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank G. Wheeler, 54, of Pasadena, Calif., was killed Thursday in a two-vehicle accident on Arkansas 45 at nearby Hindsville.

State Police said the accident occurred when Wheeler apparently lost control of his car on a curve and crashed head-on into a truck driven by Donald R. Phillips, 44, of Berryville.

4 in Family Killed, Son Is Sought

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP) — Four members of a family have been found slain—attacked with ax, knife and hammer and strangled with a mod tie—and police were searching for a 17-year-old son for questioning.

John Rice, chef at a gun factory, found his wife and two of his children dead and his mother-in-law lying when he went home from work Thursday.

Missing along with one of the family cars was red-haired John Rice Jr., described as 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighing 200 pounds, an honor student senior at New Canaan High School who was about to become an Eagle Scout. Police posted a 13-state alarm for him.

Police said the youth's mother, Janet, 44, died of multiple ax wounds in the head and stab wounds in the neck and chest.

Her son, Stephen, 16, was killed with ax blows in the head and her daughter, Nancy, 14, was found strangled with a tie.

Mrs. Rice's mother, Edith Fitzpatrick, 73, "had her head bashed in" with a hammer and died of a skull fracture at Norwalk Hospital without regaining consciousness, Police Chief Henry E. Keller said.

In the white, two-story colonial style house police found an ax, a knife with a decorative handle, a brightly colored tie and a hammer which they said they were the death weapons.

Police said a .22 caliber pistol and some ammunition was missing from the house.

The bodies were found in different rooms—Mrs. Rice on a day bed in the living room, Nancy on the floor beside her mother, Stephen in an upstairs bedroom and Mrs. Fitzpatrick in her bedroom downstairs.

Mineral Spgs. School Grant of $14,600

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Seven federal grants, totaling $65,220, have been approved to aid Arkansas school districts in desegregation.

The state Education Department said Thursday the grants bring the total number of districts receiving aid to 64, and the total aid to $1.3 million.

The new grants were $18,000 to Fordyce, $4,500 to McCrory, $9,800 to Bradley, $5,100 to Harmony Grove (Ouachita County), $7,800 to Hermitage, $14,600 to Mineral Springs and $5,420 to Chidester.

Arkansas has been allocated $2,186,088 as part of a $75 million appropriation by Congress to aid desegregation in southern states.

Group Receives First Grant

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Independent Living Services Inc. of Conway, an organization formed recently to provide a community boarding home for mentally retarded young men, Thursday received the first $5,000 of a $12,000 grant approved in October by the Arkansas Department of Mental Retardation's Division of Community Services.

Mrs. Jim Schneider of Conway, executive director of the I.L.S., said the money would be used initially for extensive remodeling of a two-story house in Conway. She said she hoped the facility would be ready soon after the first of the year.

Laird Called to Explain Bomb Policy

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright suggested today the broadened U.S. bombing policy for North Vietnam detailed by President Nixon indicates the Nixon administration is seeking a Vietnam settlement "through the application of superior force on North Vietnam."

But Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said U.S. policy in Vietnam continues to be "based upon our desire for success in the negotiations" with the alternative of ending U.S. participation through the Vietnamization program.

The Arkansas Democrat raised the question at the start of a hearing in which Laird joined in Thursday's appeal by Secretary of State William P. Rogers for fast approval of President Nixon's new aid program for Cambodia.

Fulbright disputed Laird's assertion that action is needed now because the Pentagon lacks sufficient funds to maintain aid to the Cambodians through transfers from other assistance programs—the method that has been used until now.

"I think that we can prove that for at least six to eight weeks you will not be out of money," Fulbright told Laird, noting that the funds available are about to be replenished through passage of this year's foreign aid appropriations bill.

Fulbright repeated the reluctance which he shares with some other committee members to give quick approval to the Cambodia aid request and thus, in effect, endorse the administration's Cambodian policies.

Fulbright and Laird sparred inconclusively over whether the North Vietnamese had agreed to permit U.S. reconnaissance flights over their country as part of the understanding that accompanied the U.S. decision to cease bombing of North Vietnam in November 1968.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, at his first news conference in 19 weeks, has expanded his bombing policy for North Vietnam. He says he will send American planes against military targets in the North if enemy troop movements imperil U.S. forces, and that, if U.S. planes are fired on, they are to destroy the missile site that fired and the military complex supporting it. Nixon says he does not foresee U.S. ground troops being used again in Cambodia.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trains are back in motion at the end of a 24-hour strike by four railroad workers' unions. Union leaders called off the strike under orders from Congress and the federal courts.

QUI NHON, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Army has charged a Bowmanville, Tex., private with negligent homicide in the shooting of a Vietnamese teenager whose death set off two days of anti-American rioting here.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee has agreed to provide $210 million for development of the supersonic transport plane, but Senate opponents of the SST, who earlier succeeded in deleting all funds for the plane, vowed they would talk all winter rather than approve the funds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, which has declined to challenge the legality of wholesale firing and demotion of Negro teachers in the South, has offered $3.2 million for retraining the displaced educators.

ATLANTA (AP) — A survey of 10 mayors of major cities finds more than half rate President Nixon's performance on behalf of the cities as less than satisfactory, but nearly all give him high marks for his federal revenue sharing and welfare reform proposals.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an expansion of his bombing policy, President Nixon says he will send American planes against military targets in North Vietnam again if enemy troop infiltration imperils the shrinking U.S. force in the South.

In a stern warning aimed at Hanoi, Nixon told his first news conference in 19 weeks Thursday night that if enemy infiltration threatens to intensify the fighting in the South as U.S. troops withdraw:

"I will order the bombing of military sites in North Vietnam, the passes that lead from North Vietnam into South Vietnam, the military complexes, the military supply lines... let there be no misunderstanding...."

Although there were heavy air strikes against North Vietnamese targets last May and again in November, Nixon's declaration expanded the stated policy on bombing and raised the possibility of increased U.S. air action over the North in the months ahead.

Earlier bombings have been linked to anti-aircraft and missile attacks on U.S. reconnaissance planes over the North—flights the United States claims are made as part of an "understanding" reached with North Vietnam when President Lyndon B. Johnson halted regular bombing of the North Nov. 1, 1968.

Stressing withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam as his central purpose, Nixon also declared that "Cambodian forces are now tying down 40,000 North Vietnamese troops who otherwise would be over (in South Vietnam) killing Americans." He appealed for congressional approval of a quarter-billion-dollar aid program to support the Cambodian war effort.

At the same time, he said he could conceive of no circumstances—"none whatever"—under which the United States would again send its own ground forces into Cambodia.

Possibly reflecting his frustration with North Vietnam's conduct in the Paris peace talks, its refusal to exchange prisoners of war, and its potential for stepping up the fighting in the South, Nixon at one point called it an "international outlaw."

But he said the United States intends to persist in the Paris talks as long as the other side is willing, although "we do not have great hopes" for any results.

Nixon, in the otherwise wide-ranging quizzing, did not mention and was not asked about the railroad strike, which occupied much attention in recent days. The strike was called off just as the 7 p.m. news conference was beginning.

On other domestic issues, he said:

Rebuilding Grant to Hot Springs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ozark Regional Commission has approved a $197,700 grant to Hot Springs which is to be used by the city to rebuild a six-block section of Central Avenue, revamp traffic patterns, promote tourism and generate new jobs.

Rep. John Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced approval of the grant Thursday. E. L. Stewart, federal co-chairman of the commission, said the grant was approved upon request of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, a member of the commission.

The commission grant is part of a long-range program to increase jobs and incomes in Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas.
